A PIECE OF HISTORY

The „Straßenhof“ owes its name to its position on the old high street which has always been a much used route between Rothenburg and Nuremberg.

In 1753/54, presumably to take economic advantage of the high volume of traffic, this hamlet was established by the lords of Seckendorff-Aberdar.

First, the building was a kind of highway agency, but since 1812 has been used as a public house and coaching inn, as well as a brewery

Until 1933, the inn was owned by the von Seckendorff family, and since then has been run by us as a restaurant for day-trippers.
